B2B SERVICES

1 BUSINESS PROMO

A business promo is your flagship video that highlights the customer's story in their mind and how working with you will help improve their life and business.

We'd use our 9-part story framework to tell the story about your company, services and illustrate what the customer's life will look when they work with you.

OUR RECOMMENDATION

You mentioned that you're in the B2B service industry. With most clients we've worked in this space, it's longer sales cycles, steep competition, and requires some one-to-one sales and marketing.

With a series of videos you'll be able to more effectively highlight the specific services you offer in marketing, prospecting, and sales pitches.

This series of video is designed to help engage, educate and ultimately convert a prospect to a long-term client.

2 SERVICE PROMO

Most B2B service companies we've worked with don't offer just ONE service, they have an array of services.

Often times your sales team is going to pitch that solution that's tailored to them.

This is where a service promo comes in; its a video that specifically highlights one service and explains the problem in the customer's mind and how this service will solve it.

3 SOCIAL/EMAIL VIDEOS

As a B2B company most likely LinedIN is where your prospects are spending their time, so short social videos that drive them to your site for longer form video content can help capture more leads.

Equally, you can take that same short form video content that's designed to "hook them" and use it directly in email marketing. It can be a simple link in an email, animated gif, or embedded video all designed to engage them to click, watch and learn more.

4 CUSTOMER TESTIMONIALS

Most businesses don't like be the first to test out a new service or business they don't know much about.

Which is why video testimonials can be a powerful way to showing social proof, providing references, and highlighting natural objections your prospects have, by framing them in the context of a customer testimonial video.
